Raft building – A team experience

Raft building

Raft building is a great team building event, guaranteed to separate the floaters from the lead balloons! Which of your friends and colleagues would you rather be marooned with?! Do you think you can create a floating vessel out of only the scantest resources? Well let's hope so, otherwise you'll be swimming instead!

Split into teams, you'll be given only the bare essentials: barrels, poles and rope, with which, in a limited amount of time you have to build your raft! This activity requires creativity, initiative and teamwork. Then comes the big crunch... is it going to float? Is it going to stay in one piece? And is it going to get you safely down the river?! Are we watching a rerun of Papillon here, or is it Titanic II? Metaphorically you're in hot water, but fortunately for you it isn't deep, so this is perfectly safe but brilliantly funny nonetheless.

In case you are still over water, the possibility of doing several competitions is given. Furthermore there will be a life boat and of course you will be wearing life jackets.
